

The Just Group Streamlines Regression Testing Across 7 Brands & 14 Web Applications with Opkey's Automated Platform

Customer Overview & Need

The Just Group is a retail conglomerate based in Melbourne, Australia that has been doing business since 1970. It currently operates over 1,000 retail locations across Australia, New Zealand, Singapore, and the U.K., and employs more than 6,000 people.

The company needed the right test automation platform to help reduce the time and effort IT teams were spending doing regression testing.

Business Challenge

Performing regression testing for seven different fashion brands and fourteen web applications was difficult for The Just Group. The tedious process required an enormous amount of time and effort from their IT and business teams as well as from their non-technical business users.

Regression testing was especially challenging whenever new updates were pushed or functionalities were added to their applications. Because of this testing burden, The Just Group was only able to push half the amount of changes they wanted to.

Solution

The Just Group used Opkey's no-code platform to streamline their regression testing processes. Opkey's seamless end-to-end test automation capability allowed the company to speed up regression testing across their multiple platforms and brand websites and enabled The Just Group's end-users to manage testing processes without the need for IT support.

Results

- Reduced regression testing cycle times by 68% and eliminated the need to hire additional testers.
- Eliminated bottlenecks and improved the company's ability to push through more updates.
- Automated tedious manual reporting.

Testimonial

"The reduction in the time we spend doing regression testing and testing in general is tremendous. And working with the Opkey team has been a great experience. We plan on using them for all our future testing needs."
